

Enjoy cool cocktails and cute snacks at JBar, Chicago

With its intimate atmosphere, cutting-edge DJs and stylish decor, bars don't come much cooler than JBar at The James.

This trendy nightspot attracts all the movers and shakers in Chicago and whether you're popping in for a quick drink or have come to party the night away, JBar is the only place to be.

The bar - right next to the James Hotel - boasts a great range of signature cocktails and although the friendly staff will be able to help you find your perfect mix, I can particularly recommend The James ($12) - a sweet blend of Stolichnaya raspberry vodka, elderflower liqueur, lime and fresh raspberries.

If you're feeling a bit peckish, you should also check out the bar's unusual selection of sweet treats from David Burke's Primehouse next door.

Gorgeous and well-presented (just like the JBar clientele), these dinky little bar snacks are totally addictive.

The cute Cheesecake Lollipop Trees ($15) are tiny works of art and I absolutely loved the mini ice cream cones ($8), served in baby-sized cups of sugar.

JBar is open every evening from Wednesday to Saturday, and the party continues well into the wee small hours. You'll love it...
